

Burns Detective Agency To Drive Out Swindlers

Chamber of Commerce Enters in Agreement With Celebrated Agency for Protection of Public Against Further Sales of Fake, Fraudulent and Worthless Securities to Citizens—Similar to Protection Offered to Banks.

Announcement was made today by A. A. Davis, Dr. M. J. Michael and J. T. Johnson, who comprise the Chamber of Commerce Committee on Community Protection, that the Chamber had entered into an agreement with the William J. Burns International Detective Agency, Inc., to protect the city of Kingston from the sales of fake, fraudulent and worthless securities.

The services of the Burns Agency have been secured to operate here in conjunction with the Chamber in an attempt to salvage for the citizens and business interests of the city the thousands of dollars that are annually leaving the community in the pockets of swindling promoters. The service as operated and now in existence is far reaching in its scope and gives the local citizens the truth on any stock selling scheme offered to them no matter where it may originate.

The plan of operation, which is now being carried out as follows: The Burns Agency furnishes to the Chamber a supply of "Warning Notices," which are distributed to the community and particularly the stock salesman that the community is protected from the sale of fake, fraudulent and worthless securities by the Burns people, and a reward is paid for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the perpetrator of a fraud by means of the sale of a stock, bond or other investment security. These notices are to be placed in every store, bank, office, and other prominent places in as conspicuous a place as is possible.

The residents of this city can render a service not only to other investors in this city by reporting all cases of attempts to sell them securities of a doubtful nature, but they can also earn for themselves the reward for the right information that may lead to the arrest of the swindler.

Briefly sketched here are some facts as to the operating plan of the service: In the office of the Chamber, the Burns Agency has placed a card index card listing hundreds of unlisted stock offerings and their classifications as to its standing, whether it is a fraud, gamble, wild, speculative, highly speculative, business man's investment, or if any state has refused its permission to sell its securities or revoked its license or cancelled or suspended its operating in that state. The card also gives its present offering and the purpose of the same and where it is incorporated. This card set is placed there for your immediate information. In case you should inquire as to a particular offering and desire more information than is on the card, the Chamber will obtain for you an analyzed report on the proposition in question from the agency, this report being shown to you and the reason for the classification being set forth. Should there be no card in the set on the particular offering you are inquiring about, the Chamber immediately gets in touch with the Burns people and no matter where the particular proposition may be a report will be gotten for you without cost anywhere in the United States or Canada.

In making the investigation for the many communities that the agency covers, many fraudulent offerings are discovered, and when such cases are reported in "Advance Bulletin" is sent to the Chamber advising them to beware of the same. This being similar to the service rendered to the 22,000 banks of the country which the Burns Agency is now proceeding from forgeries, check frauds, sneak thievery and other banking crimes.

The undercover service that is maintained here will have a good deal to do with ridding the community of any operators that might venture in. "Burns Men" are stationed in this city working in other positions, their connection being known only to themselves and the agency. They are the watch dogs for the city in this line of work. They ferret out the stock salesman, get the story as prospective buyers of their offerings and check up the salesman's story to the letter for misrepresentation, while the agency is checking the offering from the home office of the company in question.

Many schemes used by the swindling center are too numerous to mention but they are all clever and designed to capture the gullible. Here a proposition that may be presented to you by mail or by personal call or even "by phone" may have the earmarks of what is known as a "red herring" plan, a "prospective dividend" plan, and many other of the numerous come-on traps of the trade of swindling.

A former usually known as "the swindler," but much about paper, pen, ink, and the falling of words, swindling promoter knows the tricks of his trade and studies human nature. He is a student of psychology and knows the signs of the swindler.

Forbes Stricken With Paralysis

Former Head of Veterans' Bureau in Serious Condition Following Apoplexy—Had Planned More This Week for New Trial.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Boston, Mass., March 30.—Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former head of the United States Veterans' Bureau, and under sentence of two years at Fort Leavenworth for conspiracy in connection with veterans' hospital contracts, hovered between life and death at Hart hospital, Roxbury, today. Little hope for his recovery was held out by attending physicians.

At attack of apoplexy paralyzed the whole left side of the man who was the central figure in the most amazing government scandal in years. The paralysis is of cerebral origin. Colonel Forbes was stricken while returning by automobile to Boston from a visit to his aged mother in the little town of Hopkinton. He was carried to the home of his sister, Mrs. Harry Jackson, in Brighton, and thence removed to the hospital.

The colonel's physicians, Dr. James H. Canby, of Boston and Dr. Edward A. Tullidge, of Philadelphia, said today that Forbes was comfortable but that his recovery was uncertain. While specialists fought to save the life of Colonel Forbes, word came from Hopkinton that the news of his sickness had caused his mother, Mrs. Charles R. Forbes, to have a shock. Forbes had talked with his mother about his plans to go to Chicago this week to present a writ of supersedeas in an effort to obtain a new trial in the veterans' bureau case.

Trooper Captured Five Convicts

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Butler, Pa., March 30.—The five convicts who escaped from Western Penitentiary at Pittsburgh were recaptured here today and are being held at the state police barracks. The five men were captured by Corporal Harry Grosh, of the state police and Patrol Reed, of the state highway patrol.

The two officers stopped the car in which the men were riding shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. The five convicts offered no resistance and after a few questions Grosh and Reed brought their prisoners to the barracks.

Michael Norton, believed to be the leader of the jail breakers, was badly injured with a probable broken nose, and was taken to Butler General Hospital under guard.

The convicts escaped by burning a hole through the metal ceiling of the jail tier with an improvised electric torch, then sliding down a fifty foot wall on a rope made from scrap wire.

License Plates In Big Demand

March conditions for auto trips as well as for business having been unusually favorable, has brought a rush during the past few days to the local vehicle bureau, 227 Fair street, for automobile license plates and for operators' licenses. Up to noon today Deputy County Clerk Finner, in charge of the local bureau, had issued 8,335 pleasure car license plates for 1925 and 2,657 license plates for commercial cars.

Two Admitted to Jail. Fred Barber and Albert Farland, two of the four young men who were arrested last week by Sergeant Phinney and held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of having taken a cash register from A. J. Rose's store on Franklin street were admitted to jail. Bail in the sum of $2,000 was supplied.

Prize Fight Promoter Let Off With Fine for Violating Interstate Commerce Law—Others in the Deal Also Fined.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Newark, N. J., March 30.—George L. "Tex" Rickard, internationally known promoter of prize fights, was today fined $7,000 by Federal Judge Bodine as a result of his recent conviction in Trenton of a charge of participating in the shipment of Dempsey-Carpenter fight films out of New Jersey.

Fred C. Quimby, motion picture producer, who was in charge of the filming of the fight, was also fined $7,000.

Frank L. Flournoy, match maker of Madison Square Garden, New York, was fined $1,000. Teddy Hayes, secretary to Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, the world's heavyweight champion, was fined $1,000. Jasper Numa, a former newspaperman, was fined $7,000.

Trans-Pacific Air Race Next

New Types of Ships Being Built and Tested as Army and Navy Forces Renew Rivalry for Supremacy.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, March 30.—An epochal race is in prospect this summer between the Army and Navy air forces for the honor of first spanning the open Pacific.

The branch which first trundles out a tested ship and starts the 2,000 mile flight from San Francisco to Hawaii, will, in all probability, win. Judging from past performances of modern aircraft, and for that reason a friendly construction race is now on, it was learned today.

Heads of the two services do not regard the building as competitive, but the younger officers are enthusiastically regarding the projected flight as a race and betting on the ability of their pilots and engineers. At McCook field, Dayton, Ohio, where the greater part of the army experimental work is done, several types of ships capable of making such an extended flight are now being tested while two different designs have recently been completed by the navy.

The Boeing patrol 1,500 horse power, two engine plane has been recently completed by Boeing Airplane Company of Seattle, for the flight. And at the Philadelphia naval aircraft factory the new P. N-9, recently made a trial flight. Reports of the results were being awaited at the navy department today.

Although new in many particulars, the Boeing patrol, which was designed jointly by Boeing and navy engineers, has many tried features of other planes and is expected to successfully pass the forthcoming trial flight.

It can, theoretically, fly 2,500 miles, without stopping, at an average speed of 110 miles an hour, carrying two pilots and a mechanic. Five in all can be accommodated on the air giant, but on the Hawaiian flight it is expected the crew will be reduced to three.

Bar Sketches and Verses on Knees

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Boston, Mass., March 30.—Bells on their carter's were had enough but when they got to tattooing their knees with ink sketches and snappy verses the limit had been reached—even for high school seniors.

Hudson and Swampscott harried the bell carter, Portland, Maine, let it go as "self-expression." But when the inked knees were introduced in the Portland, South Portland and Deering High Schools, the teachers today joined to suppress both the bells and the ink sketches.

Flood Menace in New England

Property Damage Already Amounts to Quarter Million Dollars as Large Rivers and Tributaries Go on Rampage.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Boston, Mass., March 30.—With the Connecticut, Merrimack and other large rivers and their tributaries transformed into raging torrents by a heavy rainfall, northern New England today was menaced by the worst flood in years.

Property damage in New Hampshire and Vermont already amounts to more than $250,000. High lights of the flood damage are:

Randolph, Vermont: Six buildings washed into river, tenement block burned to prevent its falling and blocking the stream and two dams swept away.

Manchester, N. H.: Roof of mercantile block collapsed.

Concord, N. H.: Railroad service crippled by washouts, rivers 15 feet above normal and close patrol kept on railroad lines because of weakened roadbeds and bridges.

Meadowland between Springfield and Northampton was covered today by the Connecticut river, which was rising at the rate of a foot an hour.

At Manchester, N. H., the wheel house of the power station of the Ameskeag Manufacturing Company was flooded today.

Daniel Webster highway, near Franklin, N. H., was more than a foot under water.

Seeking Clues to Dog Poisoner

By Telegram to The Freeman.

During the past week and on Sunday, three dogs, owned by residents of Clinton avenue, between Franklin and St. James streets, have met cruel deaths. The manner in which the canines died arouses the suppositions that they have been poisoned.

A close watch is being made in an effort to find the mercenary person or persons guilty of the inhuman act. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in this city has been notified and marsh but proper justice will be meted out to the guilty party or parties.

A particularly pathetic sight was that of Sunday, when in the Houghtaling cemetery on Pine street, the third dog victim was lying a horrible death. A beautiful Collie dog, doctored watch over the dying dog and occasionally would stroke his breast with his paw as if to alleviate his sufferings.

BURNS FINED $10 WHILE GLENNON GOES TO JAIL.

Laundry Afire At Sahler's

Fire on Fire Sunday—Defective Chimney Causes Fire at Home of Abram Weeks.

Fire was discovered in a bed room over the laundry at The Dr. Sahler Sanitarium on Wall street shortly after noon Sunday and an alarm was rung in from box 78 at the Sanitarium. The firemen promptly responded and with the assistance of employees at the Sanitarium the fire was quickly extinguished. The laundry is located in a building apart from the main building. How the fire started is not known. The damage was not great. The fire loss was confined to the room where the fire started but considerable damage was done by water in the laundry downstairs.

While the firemen were engaged at the Sahler fire an alarm was rung in from box 71, Wilbur and Greenleaf avenues. The firemen found a blaze in a bedroom in the house occupied by Abram Weeks on South Pine street. The fire was caused by a defective chimney. The fire was practically confined to a closet where a quantity of clothing was destroyed. The fire was extinguished with chemicals and the loss will not exceed $500.

State Troopers Attend Dinner

Troop C of New York State Constabulary Are Given Testimonial Dinner at Binghamton by Residents of Sidney, Where Barracks Are Located.

Members of Troop C, New York State Troopers were given a testimonial dinner at the Hotel Arlington, Binghamton, last Wednesday night by residents of Sidney, where the barracks of Troop C are located. More than 170 Sidneyites, including the 75 members of the troop, were in attendance, the troopers having been called to barracks for the annual inspection and check-up. It was a case of the people of Sidney "turning the tables" on the troopers, who in previous years have been the hosts to the Sidney citizens in what was termed the "round up" at the Sidney barracks.

Captain Daniel E. Fox, commanding Troop C, was given an ovation which lasted fully five minutes. Among the speakers were E. M. Tierney, proprietor of the Arlington, A. L. Conner, district attorney of Delaware county, Major Warner in command of the troopers in the state, Judge A. J. McNaught of Delaware county, and John D. Clarke, former congressman.

Colonel Chandler, introduced as the "daddy" of the New York State Troopers, commended Captain Fox as a man of energy, enthusiasm and leadership. He said that California will pattern its contemplated state police after the New York department.

The state troopers assigned to Ulster county are members of Troop C at Sidney and all were relieved from duty last week in this county in order to return to barracks for the annual inspection and check-up and to attend the banquet at Binghamton. Following the banquet Sergeant Cunningham and his "command" returned to their respective stations in the county.

Announcement of Mitchell's new assignment created great interest in congressional circles because of the predictions freely made during the air service controversy that the flying general would be given a post far away from Washington.

Mitchell's new post at San Antonio is considered the most important air post in the field, as the Eighth Corps Area, including more active fields than any other area. More troops are concentrated in this area than any other.

There are no indications that General Mitchell will receive any further "discipline" for his opinion criticism of his superiors.

Paltz Girls Sue Highland Ferry

Both Had Narrow Escape From Drowning When Auto Plunged Into River—Two Were Drowned In Accident.

Actions totaling $20,000 have been commenced by Flora and Rachel Canfield against the Poughkeepsie and Highland Ferry Company for injuries alleged to have been received when a car in which they were passengers backed off the dock in Highland on the night of November 14, 1922.

The young women reside near New Paltz and on the night of the accident were invited by Mr. and Mrs. O. Schutterick, neighbors, to accompany them to Highland in their new car. The car had been delivered to them that afternoon by Eugene Meyer and William T. David, sons, both of New York, who had driven the car from New York to New Paltz and had made arrangements to go back by train. Mr. Schutterick had taken them to Highland where they were to cross by ferry to Poughkeepsie.

Backs Machine Into River. In operating the car at the rear of the ferry house, Mr. Schutterick backed it so far that it went over the dock into the river with all the occupants inside. Mr. and Mrs. Schutterick were drowned. The others escaped, although it is alleged they received injuries and suffered from the shock of the sudden immersion.

Meysers made a settlement of an action which he brought against the company while Davidson brought his case to trial and won a verdict of $6,500. The case is now on appeal.

Flora Canfield is now a teacher in the public schools in New Hyde Park, Long Island, while Rachel resides in New Paltz. The complaint alleges that both the young women are still suffering from nervous shock while Flora in addition to the shock suffered a broken shoulder.

Girls Rescued by Men. The girls were rescued by men who were attracted to the scene by the screams. Flora was pulled out of the water by Tony Palla, while two men whose names are unknown, leaned over the dock and rescued Rachel.

Mitchell Going To San Antonio

Brigadier General Who Criticized Air Service, Will Become Air Service Officer in Eighth Corps Area.

Washington, March 30.—Brigadier General William Mitchell at the termination of his term as assistant chief of air service, on April 27, will be transferred to San Antonio, Texas, as air service officer in the Eighth Corps Area, the war department announced today.

Announcement of Mitchell's new assignment created great interest in congressional circles because of the predictions freely made during the air service controversy that the flying general would be given a post far away from Washington.

Mitchell's new post at San Antonio is considered the most important air post in the field, as the Eighth Corps Area, including more active fields than any other area. More troops are concentrated in this area than any other.

PACKARD

The Days of Frequent Car Buying are Passing

The public is learning after a quarter century of experience that true economy in personal transportation, as in other necessities, lies in buying the best at long intervals rather than less than the best at more frequent intervals.

Sixty per cent of the cars now being traded in on Packard Sixes are less than two years old—25% are less than one year old. But for these new Packard owners the days of frequent car buying are past.

Thousands of Packard Six owners are now well on their way toward the 100,000 mile mark—and with no loss of the original beauty, distinction and comfort of their cars. They have discovered true economy.

RAISE FUND TO STOP JOKES ABOUT PLUMBERS

National Bureau Spending $200,000 to Create "Higher Prestige" for Artisan.

Evansville, Ind.—An organization in Evansville is spending a fortune annually to stop jokes about plumbers. The organization is the National Trade Extension Bureau of the Plumbing and Heating Industries. It is spending $250,000 or more a year on publicity "to create better public relations and higher prestige" for its members, according to Howard E. Jones, director of the "Sales Service Help Department." Mr. Jones, who has advisory control over the expenditure of the $250,000, adds, significantly: "Higher prestige means less likelihood of plumbers being made the butt of superannuated jokes at their expense."

Vaudevilleans, newspaper reporters and editors particularly are observed by Mr. Jones. More than one has received a kind but curt note from him that a plumber is not to be laughed at. When somebody inadvertently told Mr. Jones the old joke about a plumber going home for his tools and charging the time up, Mr. Jones calmly retorted: "There are exactly 23,345 tools and plumbing parts used by the plumber. You wouldn't expect him to carry all these on his back every time he got a call, would you?"

Paris Laughs at Threats to Move Fashion Center

Paris.—A dispatch has reached Paris from London which has served as a challenge to all the "couturiers" of the French city. It is to the effect that London is about to wrest from its rival the coveted title of "capital of fashion," and that a new English organization, with a capital of 8,700,000 francs, has been organized with this end in view.

Naturally the French answer is "Impossible," for at Paris, say the arbiters of style, "La mode est un art."

Even though the responsible "artists" are attracted to other countries, the French capital is in no danger, the French say. These emigres are powerless abroad, they all wish to return, they continue, and the secret is "Paris and fashion are one. It is a question of air, of atmosphere, of rivalry, of background. That is all there is to it."

So Paris is not worried over British threats or American threats to her supremacy in the world of fashion. The Rue de la Paix still maintains a proud disdain for the rest of the world. Only one thing Paris asks, and that is a clear understanding that "to copy is to steal." This is becoming a sore point which touches not the pride of the French, but their pocketbooks.

Black Bears Becoming Nuisance in Minnesota

St. Paul.—The mischievous black bear has become so annoying to settlers, tourists, campers, villagers and others in Minnesota's vast forest lands that he has been made the object of proposed legislation.

A bill introduced in the Minnesota legislature would appropriate money "for the relief of individuals for injuries suffered to their persons and properties by reason of attacks from bears."

Under the protection of a state law the bears, according to game wardens, have rapidly increased and these offenders like their number to Minnesota's famous 10,000 lakes.

Flour, vegetables, jams, fruit and other delicacies brought into the woods for human consumption offer the greatest temptations to the bear family, game wardens say. Last summer the wild berry crop was exceptionally poor in Minnesota and the hungry bears frequently pried the screens or doors from frail summer cabins to help themselves.

Death Duties Break Up British Landed Estates

Glasgow.—The great estates of England, Scotland and Ireland are doomed, owing to death duties, which sometimes total as high as 60 per cent.

Speaking before the Glasgow Conservative club, where he was entertained on the attainment of his ducal jubilee, the duke of Montrose said he doubted that the rising generation realized the transition which is taking place in regard to their future.

"We are running very fast in these democratic times," he said, "and the big estates and ancestral castles which were a feature of my younger days must gradually disappear."

"The landlords' rights are being curtailed every day, but nevertheless I cannot help but think that I have lived during the most prosperous time of this old country of ours. Possibly we won't miss the old castles, after all."

INTRODUCING TAFFETA.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

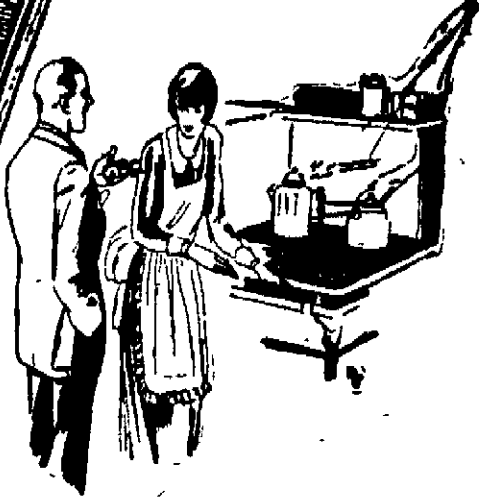

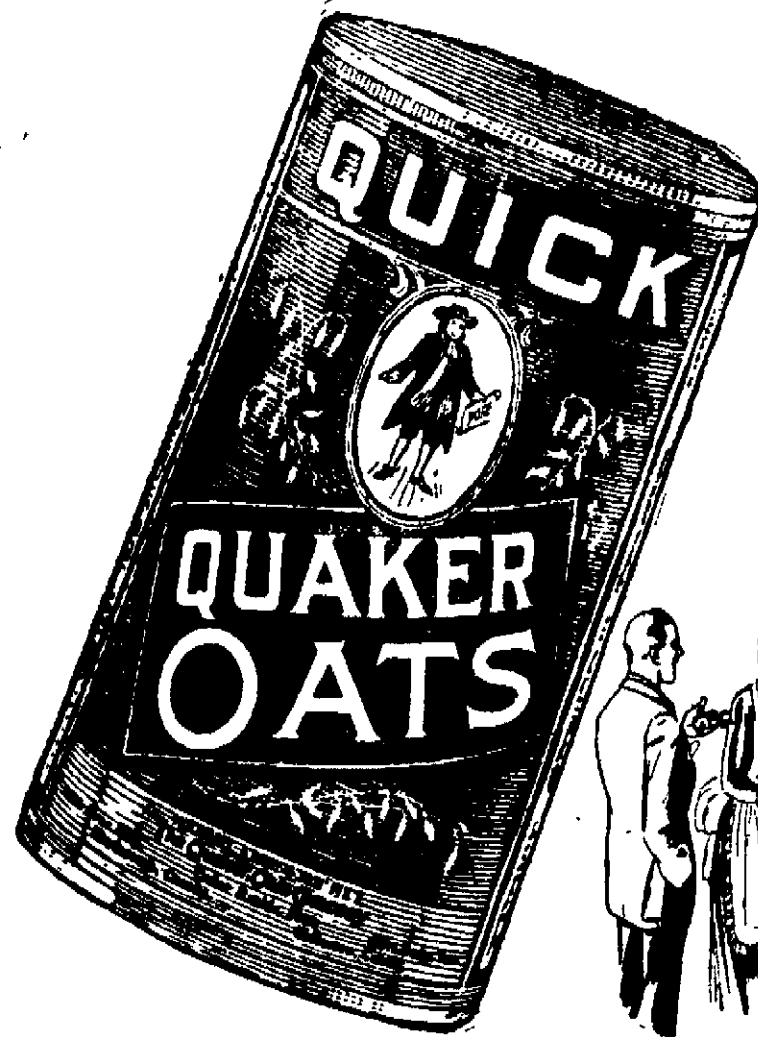

Paris seems just around the corner—so quickly do the models shown there find themselves in our shop windows, and so rapidly are French fads and fashions taken up by our own women.

Take, for instance, the amusing trick of pinning a rhinestone donkey or elephant on any animal, for that matter, on one's hat; or the widely capied fashion of adopting novelty pearls!

One of the newest interests is the return to taffeta. It seems the psychological moment to introduce it, for frocks have a part way of springing out into flounces and godets, which need a fabric with a certain crispness to aid them in achieving the desired effect.

An Effective Little Trick for Giving a Frock Slender Lines

If you would give long, sweeping lines to the back of a frock, put a rather narrow panel over the circle and extending down a little below the line of the dress. Such a little trick as this is unappreciated.

Court Told "Jazz Baby" Is Insane

Her Counsel Also Says She Is Not in Physical Condition to Continue Trial—Asks Sanity Trial Before Jury.

San Francisco, Cal., March 30.—Dorothy Ellingson, 16 year old matricide, is not in physical condition to continue her trial and in addition is insane.

This was the declaration made to Superior Judge Harold Louderbach today by Attorney Walter McGovern in a motion that the present trial of the young girl for the murder of her mother be discontinued and her sanity tried before the jury that was to hear the murder case.

"We are convinced that she will become worse rather than better as time goes on. In addition we believe there is very decided doubt concerning her present mental condition," said McGovern.

"We offer to stop this proceeding providing the state will stipulate that the present jury be impaneled as a special jury to try the present sanity of Dorothy Ellingson."

Assistant District Attorney Harmon still declined to make the stipulation until a sufficient showing has been made to the court concerning the mental status of the girl. Judge Louderbach concurred in this view and Attorney McGovern read an affidavit by Dr. Jau Don Ball, psychiatrist.

The affidavit set forth the opinion of the scientist that the girl is at present insane. After hearing the affidavit read Judge Louderbach stated he would have to hear the testimony of Dr. Ball before judging the case.

The entire proceedings today were held in the absence of the jury, which was excused until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

READERS WILL HAVE NOTABLE SERIES OF HISTORICAL ARTICLES

This paper has secured the publication rights to a series of historical articles which are unique. "Famous Forts in United States History," written by Elmo Scott Watson, is the title of the series and it is to a certain degree an official selection of "state forts," something which has never before been done. Early in the author's preparation for writing these articles he discovered that no comprehensive collection of material on the subject had ever been made and that historians generally had given little attention to the importance of forts in the making of the United States.

Accordingly he wrote to officials of all the state historical societies asking for their selection of the most famous fort in their state and the one which comes nearest symbolizing the history of that state. In nearly every case they gave their selection and also referred him to the most authentic sources of information on the subject, thus helping to make the articles as historically accurate as possible. In many cases information in these articles was secured from official documents and old books now long out of print, so that the author has brought to light interesting material about our forts which has never before been published. Each article gives in readable form the salient facts in the history of each fort, tells of its importance in American history and helps perpetuate not only the memory of some of these outposts of American civilization which should be remembered but also of the men and deeds of Americans who should not be forgotten. It is a fall to read these instructive and entertaining stories in this newspaper.

Few Are Familiar With Shoes by Common Name

"Ask a customer if she wants oxfords or ties, sandals or pumps, and—simple as it may sound—you'd be surprised how few women can give a definite and helpful answer to the salesman," says a big shoe dealer whose business it is to satisfy scores of perplexed shoppers every day. Shopping after shoes would be a much simpler problem if women took the trouble to familiarize themselves with the different kinds of shoes carried in the shoe department.

Bringing the question straight home to ourselves, did you know, for instance, that oxfords, strictly speaking, are low shoes with three or more eyelets or buttons? And that if they have one or two eyelets they are called "ties?"

A "pump" is a low shoe, with a perfectly plain surface, no fastening of any kind, a thin sole, and, in those for men, a low heel.

Shots for sports or walking are of the "brogue" type, with low heels and leather or rubber soles. A brogue is a heavy walking shoe, usually on the oxford order, with elaborate perforations, foxing and winged tip.

Bluchers are laced shoes in which the tongue and vamp are in one piece, the quarters extending over the vamp from one-half to one inch.

Colonial pumps are low shoes that have a flare tongue extending out and above the throat of the shoe, and having a buckle across the waist. A "tongue pump" is one that has a small pointed tongue that does not extend much above the throat of the shoe.

"Ball" is an abbreviation of the English term Palmoral, which merely means a laced shoe. "Ballet slippers" are those worn by professional dancers, and of lightweight kid, with thin sole, no heel, and no decoration.

Congress gaiters are shoes that come just above the ankle, with a leather or cloth top without buttons or lacing, but are adjusted to the ankle by a gusset of rubber goring.

Sandal shoes refer to a pump with one, two or three straps.

Old ladies' shoes are made of some soft kid with flat heels and usually have no toe boxing or "soft toes."

In the house-slipper line, "Juliettes" are loose-fitting slippers, high in front and low at the sides. Martha Washingtons are practically the same as Juliettes. "Mules" are house slippers with a high heel, sole and vamp, but no quarter or counter.

Simplicity Tests Skill of Ordinary Seamstress

The simplicity that distinguishes the fashions of the day is often a most deceiving simplicity, for the effect is achieved by a skill far more subtle than that necessary to design a much more elaborate costume.

The test of a designer lies in knowing what to leave off, not what to add to a frock in the way of ornamentation, and to make each "tailor" count for something in the statement of that appearance of simplicity that is as smart as it is sophisticated.

In these amazingly simple gowns, cut in evening line and that seem to be detail that anyone could copy, often turns out to be decidedly tricky and difficult.

A noticeable feature of several of the newest frocks is the use of rayon drapery, and while some are merely gathered or plaited where others are more ingenious and are complicated for the home dressmaker to duplicate.

Linner Dresses Use Lace

Several of the smartest linner dresses recently worn were made of black lace with touches of green or brown lace mounted over flesh-colored slips.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)
EFFECTS OF MASSAGE.

One of the things the "flying" Finn, Nurm, has emphasized since he came to America is the value of massage.

Nurm has some right to talk to us when we remember that after breaking the world's records in New York one night, he took the train to Chicago the same evening, when he broke some further world's records the following evening, then that same evening took the train back to New York and broke some further world's records the next night. That is in three successive nights, with the thousand mile journey each way between New York and Chicago, he broke all these world's records.

Someone has put the matter this way:

Massage is simply the working of the muscles and thus giving them exercise, and therefore would be a good thing for an invalid who was unable to take exercise. The massage would stimulate the circulation and thus help the heart and lungs, and therefore all parts of the body.

Thus, athletes who have done strenuous work can have their circulation quickened, and fatigue products thereby removed in a short time.

However, someone else asks this pertinent question: "If massage is really exercise, then that exercise would manufacture more fatigue products and you will increase fatigue instead of lessening it."

In answer to this, some Philadelphia investigators show that the fatigue substances, lactic acid and the acid condition of the blood do not follow massage as they do after exercise. That massage actually removes these products and renders the blood more alkaline has been demonstrated many times.

Now, how is this accomplished? The increase in circulation has always been considered the big factor. That is, as mentioned above, massage so stimulates the circulation that fatigue products are carried away in much less time.

However, some scientific men have been doing a great amount of investigation in the small capillaries, that is the small vessels that connect the arteries with the veins. It would appear that these little vessels are capable of a great variation in the amount of blood that they permit to pass through them.

It seems that they are usually in a small or contracted condition, precluding almost a wall against much time coming into them at any one time.

However, under certain conditions due to certain substances from ductless glands they open up as it were, and permit an increased amount of blood to go through them and on into the veins.

It is now thought that by massaging the muscles, these little capillaries are persuaded to open up; thus ridding the system of fatigue products in a short time.

HOW

SCIENTISTS HAVE COME TO NEW VOLCANIC THEORY.
Volcanoes and boilers blow up from the same cause, too much steam pressure; volcanoes are not "safety valves" to the molten interior of the earth, for the earth's interior is not molten; the lakes of boiling lava in volcanic craters are hotter at the surface than they are in their depths.

These and similar astonishing statements, in some cases reversing ideas at present accepted about volcanoes, were made before the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Washington recently by Dr. Arthur L. Day, director of the geological laboratory of the Carnegie Institute at Washington and expert on volcanism.

The data and observations on which Doctor Day based his statements were gathered in volcanic regions all over the globe, but attention had been centered especially on two fire-mountains; huge Kiluauea in Hawaii, and Mt. Lassen in California, the only active volcano in the United States proper. The former was studied as a laboratory of lava reactions, and the latter for the lessons of its peculiarly explosive eruption of nine years ago.

At Kiluauea it was found that the surface temperature of the lava lake was variable, rising as high as 1,185 degrees Centigrade, or 2,165 degrees Fahrenheit. Twenty feet below the surface the temperature was 100 degrees Centigrade lower. Doctor Day is of the opinion that this peculiar effect, which is the reverse of what would naturally be expected, is due to the chemical reactions of the gases that bubble through the lava, giving off heat as they unite and rise. The Lassen eruption of 1915, as well as the lesser eruptions that have occurred from time to time since then, appears to have been due mainly to a great steam explosion. Doctor Day believes the water for the generation of this steam came from the lava itself. Molten rock, he found in laboratory experiments, can dissolve considerable water in itself, but as it cools and crystallizes the water is given off again and turned into steam.

How Printing of Silk Has Grown With Time

The vogue of printed materials, of printed silks most conspicuously, suggests much of the romance that surrounds their making. Long ago, as far away in the dim past as silk weaving was first known, its lustrous surface was printed with patterns of various sorts, primitive in the earliest creations, but growing in artistic importance as the handicraft was perfected.

In those early days of hand looms, of wonderful dyes, of long hours and of infinite industry, the designs conceived by artists were blocked by hand, and there was none other than hand-printed silk. It was worn by the nobility and by the peasants, there being between the two the difference of quality only. Later, through the years when other styles have engaged the attention of a fashionable public, printed silk has come and gone in waves. Brocades and embroidered stuffs have had each a vogue from time to time as high lights in luxury.

How Quakes Give Warning

To predict earthquakes with as much certainty as forecasts of storms or floods are now made, may soon be possible. The preliminary shiftings and writhings of the earth's crust, imperceptible to human beings but easily detected by sensitive instruments, have been successfully used by scientists at Volcano House, Honolulu, on the rim of the crater at Kiluauea, to give warning of a coming quake. On the first occasion when a test case was made, it was observed during a period of about a month that there was a decided southerly tilt of the crater's north rim. This suddenly changed to a northerly tilt at the end of the month, and a few days later reeled back to its original position. On the strength of the position changes, it was predicted that a perceptible shock would come within a few days. The prophecy was fulfilled two days later, when a shock, not severe, but quite perceptible, rocked the island.

How to Make Floor Wax

A good floor wax is made by mixing a scant half pound of borax with a quart of water. Add gradually, stirring well, a quart of turpentine, and when mixed in a hot cup of ammonia. Cover closely the saucepan containing it and set over a fire of hot water at the back of the stove, to heat it for ten minutes. Apply warm with a piece of flannel and polish with a rough cloth.

How Fog Bells Operate

A strand of several human hairs is stretched between two supports in one of Uncle Sam's most modern light-houses. On this strand is a link, as the fog-bellows are made, the hair stretches, lowering the link and making an electrical contact, which starts an electric motor operating the fog bell striker. Thus, that old, old saying about being "warned by a hair" has become true.

Today We Celebrate

ALASKA "SEWARD'S FOLLY."
Alaska was first put on the map of the United States just fifty-eight years ago today, March 30, 1867, when a treaty between the United States and Russia was signed by which Russian America became the property of the United States in consideration of the payment to the czar's government of the sum of $7,200,000. Secretary of State Seward, who had been instrumental in negotiating this deal was ridiculed by his political opponents and accused of having bought a gold brick, and Alaska was referred to by the same opponents as "Seward's Folly" and "Seward's Ice Box." History proved that in one respect at least the petty minded men who opposed Lincoln's great War Secretary were right—he had bought a "gold brick"—only the G-B, he secured for Uncle Sam turned out to be not only genuine—but the largest gold brick in history—literally. Hundreds of millions in gold and other minerals have been taken out of the territory since we have acquired it—most of it, of course, during and since the great "Klondike Rush." It is safe to say that, accepting the judgment of the surveyors and engineers who have gone over the country, that the amount of wealth taken out is only the proverbial drop in the bucket, in comparison to the wealth yet untouched in coal, lumber, minerals and water-power. Its fisheries alone are a veritable gold mine. In 1920 over 65,000,000 salmon were taken in Alaskan waters, 788 vessels being engaged in the industry. The net value of the salmon pack in 1922 was nearly $30,000,000. Juneau is the capital, its population in 1920 was over 3,000 and territory was only 55,000, in an area of 590,884 square miles.

There are over twenty active volcanoes, notably Mt. Katmai, now with the "valley of ten thousand smokers" a national monument. Suddenly, on June 6, 1912, Katmai, which had been dormant, blew the top of its head off—one of the greatest eruptions in history—and showing the immensity of the land—with not the loss of a single life.

PETARCH'S LAURA

In the first days of April 1348, just 577 years ago, Laura de Noves, the heroine of Petrarch's amatory poetry died at Avignon. Laura was not yet twenty and Petrarch twenty-two, when they first met. She was a married woman, but that did not prevent the poet from bestowing upon her a devotion that continued afterwards. Laura was the theme of a series of sonnets which have made the name of Petrarch immortal. Although her name was thus spread all over Italy, it did not add to her happiness, for her husband, jealous of her, was enraged by the celebrity given his spouse by the poet. He had no cause for complaint in her actions, for she remained faithful to her marriage vows, and bore him ten children. Nevertheless, the jealous husband ended only with her death, which was due to the plague. The widower married again within seven months.

The spotlight
YOU'VE been in a theatre when the stage was dark, and a spotlight suddenly focused upon the thing you wanted most to see. Advertisements are like spotlights. They focus attention upon the goods that interest you most.

You could wander in and out a dozen stores and, in the confusion of many objects, overlook what would please you best. Yet by reading the advertisements, without leaving your home you can tell definitely where the desired wares are, their prices, how they will serve you. You can know actual values long before you buy.

Advertisements throw light on new comforts and improvements, too, you might like to own. They let you see conveniences other folks are enjoying—bring them within easy reach.

Let these spotlights guide you to standard goods. They'll help you save. Read the advertisements regularly.

Furlough Lodge Reported Sold

The Catskill Mountain News, published at Margaretville, in its issue of March 28, prints the following: The George J. Gould estate in Dry Brook was sold last week to M. V. Burgin of Philadelphia, Pa. The sale includes Furlough Lodge fishing streams and thousands of acres of virgin forests. The property is worth hundreds of thousands of dollars. Nothing has been learned of what Mr. Burgin will do with the property.

The late George Gould came to Dry Brook in 1889 and the next year built Furlough Lodge. He gradually acquired a large estate there and bought some 14,000 acres of land. Some of this was purchased at 50 cents per acre. This land is now very valuable.

The employees were notified on Saturday that the Gould estate would not need their services after Wednesday, April 15. Many of them have been employed there for thirty years.

The Furlough Lodge estate is well known to Ulster county residents, being located in the town of Hardenbergh. Upon investigation of the docket book of deeds at the Ulster county clerk's office no deed of transfer of the property has been filed.

Accuses Bandit

Miss Catherine Bourne, a book-keeper of a Steubenville, Ohio, automobile company, testified in the Hartford, Conn., trial of Gerald Chapman, notorious bandit, for the alleged murder of Policeman James Skelly, that she saw Chapman in her employer's store on April 5, 1924, the day before a sedan mysteriously disappeared. The missing car was traced to within five hundred feet of the spot where Patrolman Skelly met his death in New Britain, Conn. The car was registered under the name of Walter W. Miller, which, according to State Attorney Alcorn, is a Chapman alias.

THE WEEK AT RONODUT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Thursday evening the class of the Rev. Dr. Charles B. Ellis, pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian Church, will have charge of the services and will present some results of their study of Dr. Speer's book "Of One Blood."

The cantata, "The Holy City," will be sung by the church choir on Easter Sunday. Harold Brigham will be the baritone soloist and Miss Los Kamp the solo contralto. Members of the Mendelssohn Club will also assist.

Services will be held on Thursday and Friday evenings of Holy Week and the Sacrament of Our Lord's Supper will be celebrated on Easter Sunday morning.

Bashfulness Forgotten

"This collecting of cigar hands may be a nuisance," said Mrs. Smith at the mothers' council meeting, "but something is to be said for it. For instance, it has cured our Tommy of his nervousness and timidity. He will speak to anybody now."

ORANGE TIME

Mildred was not old enough yet to go to school but she had lessons at home.

Every morning at half-past nine Mildred and her mother and a little friend named Alice did lessons together.

Mildred's mother taught and the other two studied.

Mildred's dolls sat up on the sofa at lesson time and learned all they could.

It was wonderful how much they learned.

They learned all that Mildred learned.

After lessons were over Mildred would ask Gyp, the dog, a question, and Gyp would answer in a little squeaky voice the right answer every time.

To be sure, Gyp was only a little dog filled with straw and sawdust but he understood even if Mildred had to speak for him.

It was Mildred's voice which answered the question but it was what Gyp wanted to say. Mildred simply spoke for him in the very tone in which he would have spoken had he been able to use words.

The big cloth cat could recite the alphabet and could spell his own name, too!

Mildred thought that was very smart.

And the rag doll could recite quite a little poetry.

Of course during lesson time they didn't speak. They only listened.

But they took it all in as was clearly to be shown afterward when Mildred found out what they knew.

They learned to spell and to write a little and to recite and to do simple sums.

Lessons kept up until eleven o'clock and then they all had oranges.

They cut the oranges in quarters so they would last longer, though sometimes as a special treat they had an extra meal of orange-juice.

They called eleven o'clock "orange time."

When the clock struck eleven they would get up—sometimes right in the middle of a sentence—and say:

"Orange time!"

They always stopped on the very stroke of "orange time" just as they always began right on time, too.

Alice found lessons rather hard but she would say:

"When I grow up it won't matter as I shall be a wonderful circus rider."

"No one ever stops a circus rider to say:

"How much does two-and-two make?"

That thought used to comfort her a great deal when she couldn't get her lessons right.

But she tried to learn as much as she could as she wanted to be able to read her own name and what they said about her when the big signs would go up in the different towns to tell the people that Madame Alice, the famous rider, would be in town on the eighteenth, nineteenth and twentieth.

"When you come to the circus you shall come free," Alice told Mildred.

That made Mildred very much pleased and it would be a great help, too.

She would be able to go to the circus each day and not worry over the expense.

No one could ever have enough money to pay to go to the circus three times in succession, but she would be able to go free.

So, each morning they studied, and the dolls looked on and listened so they could repeat the lessons later.

But the best time of all was "orange time" when the clock struck eleven and lessons were over and it was time to eat.

That was the best time of all.

They had decided that right away and they hadn't changed their opinions since!

Not by Invitation

Billy was getting unconsciously bolder at the party, and the strict hostess was becoming annoyed.

"Willie," she said, gently but firmly, "unless you become more quiet I will have to send you home."

Billy looked at her severely. His expression was like a somnambulist's after he has been told of his sleep walking. Then suddenly he brightened up with his boyish smile.

"So," he said, confidently though respectfully, "you can't send me home till 2 o'clock. My invitation read 'From 2 to 2.'"

Veal and Celery Soup.—Cut up a dozen stalks of celery, cook until tender in salted water with a small onion sliced, then press through a sieve. Add six cupfuls of veal stock, pepper and salt to season and a teaspoonful of sugar. Bring to the boiling point, thicken with one tablespoonful of flour rubbed smooth in a cupful of milk. Cook five minutes and serve.

Deviled Crackers.—Mix together three tablespoonfuls of grated cheese, one-fourth teaspoonful of dry mustard, one teaspoonful of anchovy paste, a dash of cayenne and a saltspoonful of salt. Blend with two tablespoonfuls of butter, spread on crackers and place in the oven until they begin to color.

Remove from the heat and beat in one lightly beaten yolk of egg, then add five tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, beating well after each one. Finish by adding sour cream and beat with an egg beater.

Cheese Cones.—To two cupfuls of mashed potato add one cupful of grated cheese; season with salt and pepper, and mold in an ice cream scoop. Arrange on a baking sheet, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and brown in a hot oven. Serve hot.

Many Poisonous Fish in the Philippines

Fish with poisonous flesh are a danger to be reckoned with by dwellers and travelers in the Philippine tropics.

Dr. Albert M. Herre of the bureau of science at Manila has investigated the reports that there are poisonous fishes in the islands and states that in many cases they are true. According to Doctor Herre, the most violently poisonous species belong to the puffers and porcupine fishes. The poisonous property is due to the presence in various parts of their bodies of a substance chemically similar to the deadliest of the mushroom poisons. "The poisonous quality of these fishes is well known to all the tribes dwelling along tropical coasts," says Doctor Herre, "but strange to say there is hardly a fishing village in the Philippines where there are not foolish or reckless people who eat these fishes. Not a year goes by without several deaths. The poison seems to act first on the nerves of the alimentary canal, and soon afterward on all the muscles of the body, giving rise to violent spasms, during which the patient dies in from one to five hours."

Precious Metals

Statisticians compile some enormous figures at times when they are seeking a total for something, as for instance the amount of gold and silver in circulation in the world, or if not in circulation, accounted for. They have set forth that the value of gold is, roughly speaking, $13,100,574,736, whereas the value of silver is about $10,256,218,124.

See Go by Parcel Post

Germany now carries bees by parcel post under certain conditions. Its parcel post regulations have been amended as follows: "The importation of bees with or without combs of honey and of used boxes is permitted if the temporary prohibition resulting from an epidemic disease does not exist."

A force of men from the department of public works are engaged in a pipe line from the public parking grounds on John street to the surface water sewer on that street. The work is under the direction of Superintendent Scott Van Keuren and after the work is completed Joseph Schuler, caretaker of the park, will be able to put his high top rubber boots in cold storage, and thereafter see the autos in their proper locations while he wears his low cut shoes.

The New Smoothtop With The New Speed Burner Has Everything a Woman Wants In a Gas Range

Three Cooking Zones

Cooking, simmering and warming zones are always available on the Smoothtop—no heat is wasted. This is a vital factor in better cooking because each food can be cooked at a temperature suited to its nature.

Top Heat Control

Not only oven heat control but also top heat control is available on the New Smoothtop. Just the "right heat" can be obtained for every cooking requirement. Top heat control is relatively more important than oven control because 80 per cent of the cooking is done on the top of the stove.

New Speed Burner

The greatest improvement in a domestic gas range is the New Speed Burner and aeration plate in the Smoothtop. It assures complete combustion of gas through the automatic entrainment of the necessary amount of secondary air. Atlantic City tests show it cooks 38 per cent quicker.

Oven Heat Control

For oven heat control, the Smoothtop Range is equipped with an accurate regulating device. This instrument is absolutely dependable and frees the housewife from any worry of a supervision whatever.

It Puts a New Heart in Your Kitchen

WOMEN are amazed at the remarkable cooking advantages being demonstrated in our display room.

The innovations which the New Smoothtop brings to domestic range construction offer a new delight in cooking, a new independence in its supervision, and a new ease in its preparation which must be seen to be appreciated.

In no other way can you understand that these long wanted advantages are the direct result of the amazing New Speed Burner which cooks 25% faster by test than the ordinary type, and of the sooted Smoothtop cooking surface which, by graduated heating zones, conducts all the heat to the food.

In place of the old, timesome delays waiting for a burner, one of the New Speed Burners will often suffice to do the cooking which required two of the conventional type. In the demonstration it is shown how, by means of a top which has no "cold spots," a whole meal may be prepared at once, in almost half the time formerly consumed.

$5.00 for Your Old Range

$5.00 down

Balance with your regular monthly bill. Plan to see the special demonstration of the New Smoothtop at office. It is an unusually fine gas range on most attractive terms.

Showdown Soon In Heavy Ranks

Kane Coming East and Mullins' Promise to Break Silence Wednesday Forecasts a Showdown in Heavyweight Matters.

(By David J. Walsh.)

New York, March 30.—That the promised showdown in the heavyweight situation will develop within the next 48 hours was forecast today by the fact that Eddie Kane, champion of business for Tom Gibbons, was speeding east toward a final rendezvous with local promoters while Paddy Mullins, manager of Harry Wills, was reaffirming his promise to come out of the silence by Wednesday. Accompanying Kane is Jimmy De Forest, matchmaker for the Polo Grounds, who wants Gibbons for a bout with Gene Tunney and may get him if the Wills proposition pulls up lame.

The important money for Gibbons is in the Wills match, for which he probably can get as high as $150,000. He would be doing extremely well to cut half that amount from the proceeds of a Tunney bout.

Kane, in fact, has already made known his stand by declaring that Gibbons is ready to fight with Wills at the drop of the dough bag. De Forest made the trip to Chicago with the idea of beating the Milk Fund promoters to the punch, but Kane's footwork was dazzling. He merely agreed to a Tunney bout in the event that the Wills fight fails to materialize.

That has left the matter in the hands of the obdurate Mullins, who is waiting for a Dempsey match, and is in a fair way to get flat feet. Insinuated atrocity has been squandered on Paton in effort to convince him that a bird in the hand is worth two in the movies, and at last reports, he was beginning to weaken. His final word today was that he would give a definite answer to Ted Rickard, acting on behalf of the Milk Fund shop, on Wednesday.

Rickard is coming up for sentence in Trenton today on his conviction for transporting the Dempsey-Carpenter pictures from one state to another. Rickard will appeal if the verdict is a severe one. His thoughts on Wednesday are likely to be somewhat extraneous as far as affairs of the flat are concerned.

If not, the Mullins decision will be taken up in detail, and from that point, the jockeying will begin. It is understood that Mullins wants $200,000 for Wills' end of a Gibbons bout and has about as much chance as one eyed Connolly on a sightseeing tour.
